From the Director of the Folger Shakespeare Library

It is hard to imagine a world without Shakespeare. Since their composition four hundred years ago, Shakespeare's plays and poems have traveled the globe, inviting those who see and read his works to make them their own.

Readers of the New Folger Editions are part of this ongoing process of "taking up Shakespeare," finding our own thoughts and feelings in language that strikes us as old or unusual and, for that very reason, new. We still struggle to keep up with a writer who could think a mile a minute, whose words paint pictures that shift like clouds. These expertly edited texts are presented to the public as a resource for study, artistic adaptation, and enjoyment. By making the classic texts of the New Folger Editions available in electronic form as Folger Digital Texts, we place a trusted resource in the hands of anyone who wants them.

The New Folger Editions of Shakespeare's plays, which are the basis for the texts realized here in digital form, are special because of their origin. The Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, DC, is the single greatest documentary source of Shakespeare's works. An unparalleled collection of early modern books, manuscripts, and artwork connected to Shakespeare, the Folger's holdings have been consulted extensively in the preparation of these texts. The Editions also reflect the expertise gained through the regular performance of Shakespeare's works in the Folger's Elizabethan Theater.

I want to express my deep thanks to editors Barbara Mowat and Paul Werstine for creating these indispensable editions of Shakespeare's works, which incorporate the best of textual scholarship with a richness of commentary that is both inspired and engaging. Readers who want to know more about Shakespeare and his plays can follow the paths these distinguished scholars have tread by visiting the Folger either in-person or online, where a range of physical and digital resources exists to supplement the material in these texts. I commend to you these words, and hope that they inspire.

Textual Introduction By Barbara Mowat and Paul Werstine

Until now, with the release of the Folger Digital Texts, readers in search of a free online text of Shakespeare's plays had to be content primarily with using the MobyTM Text, which reproduces a latenineteenth century version of the plays. What is the difference? Many ordinary readers assume that there is a single text for the plays: what Shakespeare wrote. But Shakespeare's plays were not published the way modern novels or plays are published today: as a single, authoritative text. In some cases, the plays have come down to us in multiple published versions, represented by various Quartos (Qq) and by the great collection put together by his colleagues in 1623, called the First Folio (F). There are, for example, three very different versions of Hamlet, two of King Lear, Henry V, Romeo and Juliet, and others. Editors choose which version to use as their base text, and then amend that text with words, lines or speech prefixes from the other versions that, in their judgment, make for a better or more accurate text.

Other editorial decisions involve choices about whether an unfamiliar word could be understood in light of other writings of the period or whether it should be changed; decisions about words that made it into Shakespeare's text by accident through four hundred years of printings and misprinting; and even decisions based on cultural preference and taste. When the MobyTM Text was created, for example, it was deemed "improper" and "indecent" for Miranda to chastise Caliban for having attempted to rape her. (See The Tempest, 1.2: "Abhorred slave,/Which any print of goodness wilt not take,/Being capable of all ill! I pitied thee..."). All Shakespeare editors at the time took the speech away from her and gave it to her father, Prospero.

The editors of the MobyTM Shakespeare produced their text long before scholars fully understood the proper grounds on which to make the thousands of decisions that Shakespeare editors face. The Folger Library Shakespeare Editions, on which the Folger Digital Texts depend, make this editorial process as nearly transparent as is possible, in contrast to older texts, like the MobyTM, which hide editorial interventions. The reader of the Folger Shakespeare knows where the text has been altered because editorial interventions are signaled by square brackets (for example, from Othello: "[If she in chains of magic were not bound,]"), half-square brackets (for example, from Henry V: "With 「blood) and sword and fire to win your right,"), or angle brackets (for example, from Hamlet: "O farewell, honest (soldier.) Who hath relieved/you?"). At any point in the text, you can hover your cursor over a bracket for more information.

Because the Folger Digital Texts are edited in accord with twenty-first century knowledge about Shakespeare's texts, the Folger here provides them to readers, scholars, teachers, actors, directors, and students, free of charge, confident of their quality as texts of the plays and pleased to be able to make this contribution to the study and enjoyment of Shakespeare.

Synopsis

Macbeth, set primarily in Scotland, mixes witchcraft, prophecy, and murder. Three "Weird Sisters" appear to Macbeth and his comrade Banquo after a battle and prophesy that Macbeth will be king and that the descendants of Banquo will also reign. When Macbeth arrives at his castle, he and Lady Macbeth plot to assassinate King Duncan, soon to be their guest, so that Macbeth can become king.

After Macbeth murders Duncan, the king's two sons flee, and Macbeth is crowned. Fearing that Banquo's descendants will, according to the Weïrd Sisters' predictions, take over the kingdom, Macbeth has Banquo killed. At a royal banquet that evening, Macbeth sees Banquo's ghost appear covered in blood. Macbeth determines to consult the Weïrd Sisters again. They comfort him with ambiguous promises.

Another nobleman, Macduff, rides to England to join Duncan's older son, Malcolm. Macbeth has Macduff's wife and children murdered. Malcolm and Macduff lead an army against Macbeth, as Lady Macbeth goes mad and commits suicide.

Macbeth confronts Malcolm's army, trusting in the Weïrd Sisters' comforting promises. He learns that the promises are tricks, but continues to fight. Macduff kills Macbeth and Malcolm becomes Scotland's king.

| FTLN 0031 | For brave Macbeth (well he deserves that name), | |

31 Macbeth

Scene 5
Enter Macbeth's Wife, alone, with a letter.

ACT 1. SC. 5

FTLN 0332 LADY MACBETH, reading the letter They met me in the day of success, and I have learned by the perfect'st FTLN 0333 report they have more in them than mortal knowledge. FTLN 0334 When I burned in desire to question them further, they FTLN 0335 made themselves air, into which they vanished. FTLN 0336 5 Whiles I stood rapt in the wonder of it came missives FTLN 0337 from the King, who all-hailed me "Thane of Cawdor," FTLN 0338 by which title, before, these Weird Sisters saluted me FTLN 0339 and referred me to the coming on of time with "Hail, FTLN 0340 king that shalt be." This have I thought good to deliver 10 FTLN 0341 thee, my dearest partner of greatness, that thou FTLN 0342 might'st not lose the dues of rejoicing by being ignorant FTLN 0343 of what greatness is promised thee. Lay it to thy FTLN 0344 heart, and farewell. FTLN 0345 Glamis thou art, and Cawdor, and shalt be 15 FTLN 0346 What thou art promised. Yet do I fear thy nature; FTLN 0347 It is too full o' th' milk of human kindness FTLN 0348 To catch the nearest way. Thou wouldst be great, FTLN 0349 Art not without ambition, but without FTLN 0350 The illness should attend it. What thou wouldst FTLN 0351 20 highly, FTLN 0352 That wouldst thou holily; wouldst not play false FTLN 0353 And yet wouldst wrongly win. Thou 'dst have, great FTLN 0354 Glamis, FTLN 0355 That which cries "Thus thou must do," if thou have FTLN 0356 25 FTLN 0357 FTLN 0358 And that which rather thou dost fear to do, Than wishest should be undone. Hie thee hither, FTLN 0359 That I may pour my spirits in thine ear FTLN 0360 And chastise with the valor of my tongue FTLN 0361 30 All that impedes thee from the golden round, FTLN 0362 Which fate and metaphysical aid doth seem FTLN 0363 To have thee crowned withal. FTLN 0364

ACT 1. SC. 5 33 Macbeth Enter Messenger. FTLN 0365 What is your tidings? MESSENGER The King comes here tonight. 35 FTLN 0366 LADY MACBETH Thou 'rt mad to say it. FTLN 0367 Is not thy master with him, who, were 't so, FTLN 0368 Would have informed for preparation? FTLN 0369 MESSENGER So please you, it is true. Our thane is coming. FTLN 0370 One of my fellows had the speed of him, 40 FTLN 0371 Who, almost dead for breath, had scarcely more FTLN 0372 Than would make up his message. FTLN 0373 LADY MACBETH Give him tending. FTLN 0374 He brings great news. Messenger exits. FTLN 0375 The raven himself is hoarse FTLN 0376 45 That croaks the fatal entrance of Duncan FTLN 0377 Under my battlements. Come, you spirits FTLN 0378 That tend on mortal thoughts, unsex me here, FTLN 0379 And fill me from the crown to the toe top-full FTLN 0380 Of direst cruelty. Make thick my blood. 50 FTLN 0381 Stop up th' access and passage to remorse, FTLN 0382 That no compunctious visitings of nature FTLN 0383 Shake my fell purpose, nor keep peace between FTLN 0384 Th' effect and it. Come to my woman's breasts FTLN 0385 FTLN 0386 And take my milk for gall, you murd'ring ministers, 55 Wherever in your sightless substances FTLN 0387 You wait on nature's mischief. Come, thick night, FTLN 0388 And pall thee in the dunnest smoke of hell, FTLN 0389 That my keen knife see not the wound it makes, FTLN 0390 Nor heaven peep through the blanket of the dark FTLN 0391 60 To cry "Hold, hold!" FTLN 0392 Enter Macbeth. Great Glamis, worthy Cawdor, FTLN 0393 FTLN 0394 Greater than both by the all-hail hereafter!

| Lechery, sir, it provokes and unprovokes. It provokes |

| equivocator with lechery. It makes him, and it |
| mars him; it sets him on, and it takes him off; it |
| persuades him and disheartens him; makes him |
| stand to and not stand to; in conclusion, equivocates |

FTLN 1232 MACBETH, [aside] Then comes my fit again. I had else been perfect, FTLN 1233

| Which might appall the devil. |
| LADY MACBETH O, proper stuff! |
| This is the very painting of your fear. |
| This is the air-drawn dagger which you said |
| Led you to Duncan. O, these flaws and starts, |
| Impostors to true fear, would well become |
| A woman's story at a winter's fire, |
| Authorized by her grandam. Shame itself! Why do you make such faces? When all's done, |
| You look but on a stool. |

ACT 3. SC. 5

Scene 5 Thunder. Enter the three Witches, meeting Hecate.

FIRST WITCH

| FTLN 1387 | Why, how now, Hecate? You look angerly. | |
|-----------|--|----|
| | HECATE | |
| FTLN 1388 | Have I not reason, beldams as you are? | |
| FTLN 1389 | Saucy and overbold, how did you dare | |
| FTLN 1390 | To trade and traffic with Macbeth | |
| FTLN 1391 | In riddles and affairs of death, | 5 |
| FTLN 1392 | And I, the mistress of your charms, | |
| FTLN 1393 | The close contriver of all harms, | |
| FTLN 1394 | Was never called to bear my part | |
| FTLN 1395 | Or show the glory of our art? | |
| FTLN 1396 | And which is worse, all you have done | 10 |
| FTLN 1397 | Hath been but for a wayward son, | |
| FTLN 1398 | Spiteful and wrathful, who, as others do, | |
| FTLN 1399 | Loves for his own ends, not for you. | |
| FTLN 1400 | But make amends now. Get you gone, | |
| FTLN 1401 | And at the pit of Acheron | 15 |
| FTLN 1402 | Meet me i' th' morning. Thither he | |
| FTLN 1403 | Will come to know his destiny. | |
| FTLN 1404 | Your vessels and your spells provide, | |
| FTLN 1405 | Your charms and everything beside. | |
| FTLN 1406 | I am for th' air. This night I'll spend | 20 |
| FTLN 1407 | Unto a dismal and a fatal end. | |
| FTLN 1408 | Great business must be wrought ere noon. | |
| FTLN 1409 | Upon the corner of the moon | |
| FTLN 1410 | There hangs a vap'rous drop profound. | |
| FTLN 1411 | I'll catch it ere it come to ground, | 25 |
| FTLN 1412 | And that, distilled by magic sleights, | |
| FTLN 1413 | Shall raise such artificial sprites | |
| FTLN 1414 | As by the strength of their illusion | |
| FTLN 1415 | Shall draw him on to his confusion. | |
| FTLN 1416 | He shall spurn fate, scorn death, and bear | 30 |

| FTLN 1423 | My former speeches have but hit your thoughts, | |
| TLN 1424 | Which can interpret farther. Only I say | |
| TLN 1425 | Things have been strangely borne. The gracious | |
| TLN 1426 | Duncan | |
| TLN 1427 | Was pitied of Macbeth; marry, he was dead. | |
| TLN 1428 | And the right valiant Banquo walked too late, | |
| TLN 1429 | Whom you may say, if 't please you, Fleance killed, | |
| FTLN 1430 | For Fleance fled. Men must not walk too late. | |
| FTLN 1431 FTLN 1432 | Who cannot want the thought how monstrous It was for Malcolm and for Donalbain | |
| TLN 1432 TLN 1433 | To kill their gracious father? Damnèd fact, | |
| FTLN 1434 | How it did grieve Macbeth! Did he not straight | |
| FTLN 1435 | In pious rage the two delinquents tear | |
| TLN 1436 | That were the slaves of drink and thralls of sleep? | |
| TLN 1437 | Was not that nobly done? Ay, and wisely, too, | |
| TLN 1438 | For 'twould have angered any heart alive | |
| TLN 1439 | To hear the men deny 't. So that I say | |
| TLN 1440 | He has borne all things well. And I do think | |
| TLN 1441 | That had he Duncan's sons under his key | |
| TLN 1442 | (As, an 't please heaven, he shall not) they should | |
| FTLN 1443 FTLN 1444 | find What 'twere to kill a father. So should Fleance. | |

|)5 | Thou art too like the spirit of Banquo. Down! | | | |

| 7 | Thou other gold-bound brow, is like the first. | | | |
| 8 | A third is like the former.—Filthy hags, | | | |
| 9 | Why do you show me this?—A fourth? Start, eyes! | | | |
| 0 | What, will the line stretch out to th' crack of doom? | | | |
| 1 | Another yet? A seventh? I'll see no more. | | | |
| 2 | And yet the eighth appears who bears a glass | | | |
| 13 | Which shows me many more, and some I see | | | |
| 4 | That twofold balls and treble scepters carry. | | | |
| 5 | Horrible sight! Now I see 'tis true, | | | |
| 6 | For the blood-boltered Banquo smiles upon me | | | |
| 7 | And points at them for his. The Apparitions disappear. | | | |
| 18 | What, is this so? | | | |
| 0 | FIRST WITCH | | | |
| 9 | Ay, sir, all this is so. But why | | | |
| 0 | Stands Macbeth thus amazedly? | | | |
| 1 | Come, sisters, cheer we up his sprites | | | |
| 2 | And show the best of our delights. | | | |
| 23 | I'll charm the air to give a sound | | | |

| 25 | That this great king may kindly say | | | |
| 26 | Our duties did his welcome pay. | | | |
| | Music. The Witches dance and vanish. | | | |

Macbeth

ACT 4. SC. 2

Scene 2 Enter Macduff's Wife, her Son, and Ross.

| | LADY MACDUFF | |
|-----------|---|----|
| FTLN 1656 | What had he done to make him fly the land? | |
| | ROSS | |
| FTLN 1657 | You must have patience, madam. | |
| FTLN 1658 | LADY MACDUFF He had none. | |
| FTLN 1659 | His flight was madness. When our actions do not, | |
| FTLN 1660 | Our fears do make us traitors. | 5 |
| FTLN 1661 | ROSS You know not | |
| FTLN 1662 | Whether it was his wisdom or his fear. | |
| | LADY MACDUFF | |
| FTLN 1663 | Wisdom? To leave his wife, to leave his babes, | |
| FTLN 1664 | His mansion and his titles in a place | |
| FTLN 1665 | From whence himself does fly? He loves us not; | 10 |
| FTLN 1666 | He wants the natural touch; for the poor wren, | |
| FTLN 1667 | The most diminutive of birds, will fight, | |
| FTLN 1668 | Her young ones in her nest, against the owl. | |
| FTLN 1669 | All is the fear, and nothing is the love, | |
| FTLN 1670 | As little is the wisdom, where the flight | 15 |
| FTLN 1671 | So runs against all reason. | |
| FTLN 1672 | ROSS My dearest coz, | |
| FTLN 1673 | I pray you school yourself. But for your husband, | |
| FTLN 1674 | He is noble, wise, judicious, and best knows | |
| FTLN 1675 | The fits o' th' season. I dare not speak much | 20 |
| FTLN 1676 | further; | |
| FTLN 1677 | But cruel are the times when we are traitors | |
| FTLN 1678 | And do not know ourselves; when we hold rumor | |
| FTLN 1679 | From what we fear, yet know not what we fear, | |
| FTLN 1680 | But float upon a wild and violent sea | 25 |
| FTLN 1681 | Each way and move—I take my leave of you. | |
| FTLN 1682 | Shall not be long but I'll be here again. | |
| FTLN 1683 | Things at the worst will cease or else climb upward | |
| FTLN 1684 | To what they were before.—My pretty cousin, | |
| FTLN 1685 | Blessing upon you. | 30 |
| | | |

| | Macbeth ACT 4. SC. 2 | 2 |
|-----------|---|----|
| | LADY MACDUFF | |
| FTLN 1686 | Fathered he is, and yet he's fatherless. | |
| | ROSS | |
| FTLN 1687 | I am so much a fool, should I stay longer | |
| FTLN 1688 | It would be my disgrace and your discomfort. | |
| FTLN 1689 | I take my leave at once. Ross exits. | |
| FTLN 1690 | LADY MACDUFF Sirrah, your father's dead. | 35 |
| FTLN 1691 | And what will you do now? How will you live? | |
| | SON | |
| FTLN 1692 | As birds do, mother. | |
| FTLN 1693 | LADY MACDUFF What, with worms and flies? | |
| | SON | |
| FTLN 1694 | With what I get, I mean; and so do they. | |
| | LADY MACDUFF | |
| FTLN 1695 | Poor bird, thou 'dst never fear the net nor lime, | 40 |
| FTLN 1696 | The pitfall nor the gin. | |
| | SON | |
| FTLN 1697 | Why should I, mother? Poor birds they are not set | |
| FTLN 1698 | for. | |
| FTLN 1699 | My father is not dead, for all your saying. LADY MACDUFF | |
| FTLN 1700 | Yes, he is dead. How wilt thou do for a father? | 45 |
| FTLN 1700 | SON Nay, how will you do for a husband? | 43 |
| 11111701 | LADY MACDUFF | |
| FTLN 1702 | Why, I can buy me twenty at any market. | |
| FTLN 1703 | SON Then you'll buy 'em to sell again. | |
| FTLN 1704 | LADY MACDUFF Thou speak'st with all thy wit, | |
| FTLN 1705 | And yet, i' faith, with wit enough for thee. | 50 |
| FTLN 1706 | SON Was my father a traitor, mother? | |
| FTLN 1707 | LADY MACDUFF Ay, that he was. | |
| FTLN 1708 | SON What is a traitor? | |
| FTLN 1709 | LADY MACDUFF Why, one that swears and lies. | |
| FTLN 1710 | SON And be all traitors that do so? | 55 |
| FTLN 1711 | LADY MACDUFF Every one that does so is a traitor | |
| FTLN 1712 | and must be hanged. | |
| FTLN 1713 | SON And must they all be hanged that swear and lie? | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |

| | Macbeth ACT 4. SC. 2 | • | | |

| FTLN 1714 | LADY MACDUFF Every one. | | | |
| FTLN 1715 | SON Who must hang them? | | | |
| FTLN 1716 | LADY MACDUFF Why, the honest men. | | | |
| FTLN 1717 | SON Then the liars and swearers are fools, for there | | | |
| TLN 1718 | are liars and swearers enough to beat the honest | | | |
| TLN 1719 | men and hang up them. | | | |
| TLN 1720 | LADY MACDUFF Now God help thee, poor monkey! But | | | |
| FTLN 1721 | how wilt thou do for a father? | | | |
| FTLN 1722 | SON If he were dead, you'd weep for him. If you would | | | |
| FTLN 1723 | not, it were a good sign that I should quickly have a | | | |
| FTLN 1724 | new father. | | | |
| TLN 1725 | LADY MACDUFF Poor prattler, how thou talk'st! | | | |
| | Enter a Messenger. | | | |
| | MESSENGER | | | |
| TLN 1726 | Bless you, fair dame. I am not to you known, | | | |
| TLN 1727 | Though in your state of honor I am perfect. | | | |
| TLN 1728 | I doubt some danger does approach you nearly. | | | |
| TLN 1729 | If you will take a homely man's advice, | | | |
| TLN 1730 | Be not found here. Hence with your little ones! | | | |
| TLN 1731 | To fright you thus methinks I am too savage; | | | |
| TLN 1732 | To do worse to you were fell cruelty, | | | |
| TLN 1733 | Which is too nigh your person. Heaven preserve | | | |
| FTLN 1734 | you! | | | |
| TLN 1735 | I dare abide no longer. Messenger exits. | | | |
| TLN 1736 | LADY MACDUFF Whither should I fly? | | | |
| FTLN 1737 | I have done no harm. But I remember now | | | |
| FTLN 1738 | I am in this earthly world, where to do harm | | | |
| TLN 1739 TLN 1740 | Is often laudable, to do good sometime | | | |
| TLN 1740 TTLN 1741 | Accounted dangerous folly. Why then, alas, | | | |
| FTLN 1741 FTLN 1742 | Do I put up that womanly defense To say I have done no harm? | | | |
| 121(1712 | To say I have done no harm: | | | |

| FTLN 1826 | That has a name. But there's no bottom, none, | |
| FTLN 1827 | In my voluptuousness. Your wives, your daughters, | |

| FTLN 1837 | To take upon you what is yours. You may | |

| FTLN 1840 | We have willing dames enough. There cannot be | |
| FTLN 1840 FTLN 1841 | That vulture in you to devour so many | |
| TLN 1842 | As will to greatness dedicate themselves, | |
| TLN 1843 | Finding it so inclined. | |
| TLN 1844 | MALCOLM With this there grows | |
| LN 1845 | In my most ill-composed affection such | |
| LN 1846 | A stanchless avarice that, were I king, | |
| LN 1847 | I should cut off the nobles for their lands, | |
| LN 1848 | Desire his jewels, and this other's house; | |
| LN 1849 | And my more-having would be as a sauce | |
| LN 1850 | To make me hunger more, that I should forge | |
| LN 1851 | Quarrels unjust against the good and loyal, | |

| LN 1853 | MACDUFF This avarice | |
| LN 1854 | Sticks deeper, grows with more pernicious root | |

| FTLN 1874 | No, not to live.—O nation miserable, | |
| FTLN 1875 | With an untitled tyrant bloody-sceptered, | |
| FTLN 1876 | When shalt thou see thy wholesome days again, | |
| FTLN 1877 | Since that the truest issue of thy throne | |

| FTLN 1889 | To thy good truth and honor. Devilish Macbeth | |
| FTLN 1890 | By many of these trains hath sought to win me | |
| FTLN 1891 | Into his power, and modest wisdom plucks me | |
| FTLN 1892 | From overcredulous haste. But God above | |
| FTLN 1893 | Deal between thee and me, for even now | 140 |
| FTLN 1894 | I put myself to thy direction and | |
| FTLN 1895 | Unspeak mine own detraction, here abjure | |
| FTLN 1896 | The taints and blames I laid upon myself | |
| FTLN 1897 | For strangers to my nature. I am yet | 1 4 5 |
| FTLN 1898 | Unknown to woman, never was forsworn, | 145 |
| FTLN 1899 | Scarcely have coveted what was mine own, | |
| FTLN 1900 | At no time broke my faith, would not betray | |
| FTLN 1901 | The devil to his fellow, and delight | |
| FTLN 1902 FTLN 1903 | No less in truth than life. My first false speaking | 150 |
| FTLN 1903 FTLN 1904 | Was this upon myself. What I am truly Is thing and my poor country's to command— | 150 |

177 Macbeth

Scene 5 Enter Macbeth, Seyton, and Soldiers, with Drum and Colors.

ACT 5. SC. 5

MACBETH Hang out our banners on the outward walls. FTLN 2260 The cry is still "They come!" Our castle's strength FTLN 2261 Will laugh a siege to scorn. Here let them lie FTLN 2262 Till famine and the ague eat them up. FTLN 2263 Were they not forced with those that should be FTLN 2264 5 FTLN 2265 ours, We might have met them dareful, beard to beard, FTLN 2266 And beat them backward home. FTLN 2267 A cry within of women. What is that noise? FTLN 2268 SEYTON THe exits. It is the cry of women, my good lord. 10 FTLN 2269 MACBETH I have almost forgot the taste of fears. FTLN 2270 FTLN 2271 The time has been my senses would have cooled To hear a night-shriek, and my fell of hair FTLN 2272 Would at a dismal treatise rouse and stir FTLN 2273 FTLN 2274 As life were in 't. I have supped full with horrors. 15 Direness, familiar to my slaughterous thoughts, FTLN 2275 Cannot once start me. FTLN 2276 「Enter Seyton.」 Wherefore was that cry? FTLN 2277 The Queen, my lord, is dead. SEYTON FTLN 2278 She should have died hereafter. FTLN 2279 MACBETH 20 There would have been a time for such a word. FTLN 2280 Tomorrow and tomorrow FTLN 2281 Creeps in this petty pace from day to day FTLN 2282 To the last syllable of recorded time, FTLN 2283 And all our yesterdays have lighted fools 25 FTLN 2284 The way to dusty death. Out, out, brief candle! FTLN 2285

| FTLN 2286 | Life's but a walking shadow, a poor player | |
| FTLN 2287 | That struts and frets his hour upon the stage | |
| FTLN 2288 | And then is heard no more. It is a tale | |
| FTLN 2289 | Told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, | 30 |
| FTLN 2290 | Signifying nothing. | |
| | Enter a Messenger. | |
| FTLN 2291 | Thou com'st to use thy tongue: thy story quickly. | |
| FTLN 2292 | MESSENGER Gracious my lord, | |
| FTLN 2293 | I should report that which I say I saw, | |
| FTLN 2294 | But know not how to do 't. | 35 |
| FTLN 2295 | MACBETH Well, say, sir. | |
| | MESSENGER | |
| FTLN 2296 | As I did stand my watch upon the hill, | |
| FTLN 2297 | I looked toward Birnam, and anon methought | |
| FTLN 2298 | The Wood began to move. | 40 |
| FTLN 2299 | MACBETH Liar and slave! | 40 |
| FTLN 2300 | MESSENGER Let me endure your wrath if 't be not so. | |
| FTLN 2301 | Within this three mile may you see it coming. | |
| FTLN 2302 | I say, a moving grove. | |
| FTLN 2303 | MACBETH If thou speak'st false, | |
| FTLN 2304 | Upon the next tree shall thou hang alive | 45 |
| FTLN 2305 | Till famine cling thee. If thy speech be sooth, | |
| FTLN 2306 | I care not if thou dost for me as much.— | |
| FTLN 2307 | I pull in resolution and begin | |
| FTLN 2308 | To doubt th' equivocation of the fiend, | |
| FTLN 2309 | That lies like truth. "Fear not till Birnam Wood | 50 |
| FTLN 2310 | Do come to Dunsinane," and now a wood | |
| FTLN 2311 | Comes toward Dunsinane.—Arm, arm, and out!- | _ |
| FTLN 2312 | If this which he avouches does appear, | |
| FTLN 2313 | There is nor flying hence nor tarrying here. | |
| FTLN 2314 | I 'gin to be aweary of the sun | 55 |
| FTLN 2315 | And wish th' estate o' th' world were now | |
| FTLN 2316 | undone.— | |

| | MALCOLM | |
| FTLN 2319 | Now near enough. Your leafy screens throw down | |
| FTLN 2320 | And show like those you are.—You, worthy uncle, | |
| FTLN 2321 FTLN 2322 | Shall with my cousin, your right noble son, | |
| FTLN 2323 | Lead our first battle. Worthy Macduff and we Shall take upon 's what else remains to do, | 5 |
| FTLN 2324 | According to our order. | 5 |
| FTLN 2325 | SIWARD Fare you well. | |
| FTLN 2326 | Do we but find the tyrant's power tonight, | |
| FTLN 2327 | Let us be beaten if we cannot fight. | |
| | MACDUFF | |
| FTLN 2328 | Make all our trumpets speak; give them all breath, | 10 |
| FTLN 2329 | Those clamorous harbingers of blood and death. | |
| | They exit. Alarums continued. | |
| | | |
| | Scene 7 Enter Macbeth. | |
| | MACBETH | |
| FTLN 2330 | They have tied me to a stake. I cannot fly, | |
| FTLN 2331 | But, bear-like, I must fight the course. What's he | |
| FTLN 2332 | That was not born of woman? Such a one | |
| FTLN 2333 | Am I to fear, or none. | |
| | Enter young Siward. | |
| FTLN 2334 | YOUNG SIWARD What is thy name? | 5 |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| I | | |

| | Than any is in hell. |
| | MACBETH My name's Macbeth. |
| | YOUNG SIWARD The devil himself could not pronounce a title |
| | The devil himself could not pronounce a title More hateful to mine ear. |
| | MACBETH No, nor more fearful. |
| | YOUNG SIWARD |
| | Thou liest, abhorrèd tyrant. With my sword |
| | I'll prove the lie thou speak'st. |
| | They fight, and young Siward is slain. |
| | MACBETH Thou wast born of |
| | woman. |
| | But swords I smile at, weapons laugh to scorn, |
| | Brandished by man that's of a woman born. He exits. |
| | He exits. |
| | Alarums. Enter Macduff. |
| | MACDUFF |
| | That way the noise is. Tyrant, show thy face! |
| | If thou beest slain, and with no stroke of mine, |
| | My wife and children's ghosts will haunt me still. |
| | I cannot strike at wretched kerns, whose arms |
| | Are hired to bear their staves. Either thou, Macbeth, |
| | Or else my sword with an unbattered edge |
| | I sheathe again undeeded. There thou shouldst be; |
| | By this great clatter, one of greatest note Seems bruited. Let me find him, Fortune, |
| | And more I beg not. He exits. Alarums. |
| | The thore I beg not. |
| | Enter Malcolm and Siward. |
| | SIWARD |
| | This way, my lord. The castle's gently rendered. |
| | The tyrant's people on both sides do fight, |

| FTLN 2360 | The noble thanes do bravely in the war, | |
| FTLN 2361 | The day almost itself professes yours, | |

| FTLN 2363 | MALCOLM We have met with foes | |

| | Enter Macbeth. | |
| | MACBETH | |
| FTLN 2366 | Why should I play the Roman fool and die | |
| FTLN 2367 | On mine own sword? Whiles I see lives, the gash | ies |
| FTLN 2368 | Do better upon them. | |
| | Enter Macduff. | |
| FTLN 2369 | MACDUFF Turn, hellhound, turn! | |
| | MACBETH | _ |
| FTLN 2370 | Of all men else I have avoided thee. | 5 |
| FTLN 2371 | But get thee back. My soul is too much charged | |
| FTLN 2372 FTLN 2373 | With blood of thine already. MACDUFF I have no words: | |
| FTLN 2374 | MACDUFF I have no words; My voice is in my sword, thou bloodier villain | |
| FTLN 2375 | | Alarum. 10 |
| FTLN 2376 | MACBETH Thou losest labor | |
| FTLN 2377 | As easy mayst thou the intrenchant air | |
| FTLN 2378 | With thy keen sword impress as make me bleed. | |
| FTLN 2379 | Let fall thy blade on vulnerable crests; | |
| FTLN 2380 | I bear a charmèd life, which must not yield | 15 |
| FTLN 2381 | To one of woman born. | |
| FTLN 2382 | MACDUFF Despair thy charm, | |
| FTLN 2383 | And let the angel whom thou still hast served | |
| FTLN 2384 | Tell thee Macduff was from his mother's womb | |
| FTLN 2385 | Untimely ripped. | 20 |

| | MACBETH | |
| FTLN 2386 | Accursèd be that tongue that tells me so, | |
| FTLN 2387 | For it hath cowed my better part of man! | |
| FTLN 2388 | And be these juggling fiends no more believed | |
| FTLN 2389 | That palter with us in a double sense, | |
| FTLN 2390 | That keep the word of promise to our ear | 25 |
| FTLN 2391 | And break it to our hope. I'll not fight with thee. | |
| FTLN 2392 | MACDUFF Then yield thee, coward, | |
| FTLN 2393 | And live to be the show and gaze o' th' time. | |
| FTLN 2394 | We'll have thee, as our rarer monsters are, | |
| FTLN 2395 | Painted upon a pole, and underwrit | 30 |
| FTLN 2396 | "Here may you see the tyrant." | |
| FTLN 2397 | MACBETH I will not yield | |
| FTLN 2398 | To kiss the ground before young Malcolm's feet | |
| FTLN 2399 | And to be baited with the rabble's curse. | |
| FTLN 2400 | Though Birnam Wood be come to Dunsinane | 35 |
| FTLN 2401 | And thou opposed, being of no woman born, | |
| FTLN 2402 | Yet I will try the last. Before my body | |
| FTLN 2403 | I throw my warlike shield. Lay on, Macduff, | |
| FTLN 2404 | And damned be him that first cries "Hold! Enough!" | |
| | They exit fighting. Alarums. | |
| | They enter fighting, and Macbeth is slain. Macduff | |

| | MALCOLM | |
| FTLN 2405 | I would the friends we miss were safe arrived. | 40 |
| | SIWARD | |
| FTLN 2406 | Some must go off; and yet by these I see | |
| FTLN 2407 | So great a day as this is cheaply bought. | |
| | MALCOLM | |
| FTLN 2408 | Macduff is missing, and your noble son. | |
| | ROSS | |
| FTLN 2409 | Your son, my lord, has paid a soldier's debt. | |
